SAYS RAIL-WATER RATE WOULD AID BARGE LINES

Gen. T. Q. Ashburn Urges
I. C. C. to Investigate
Freight Plan.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The view was expressed before the House Commerce Committee today that the establishment of adequate joint rail-water freight rates is essential to the development of barge line transportation.

Major-General T. Q. Ashburn, executive director of the Inland Waterways Corporation, which operates the Government barge lines, and W. M. Hough, general freight agent of the Mississippi-Warrior lines, one of the Government services, testified to that effect at hearings on the Denison bill, to treble the $5,000,000 capital of the Waterways Corporation and to extend its service on several Mississippi River tributaries.

Gen. Ashburn urged that the Interstate Commerce Commission investigate the joint rates.

"The difficulty is not in the establishment of through routes and rates for joint rail and water transportation," he said, "but in the division of the revenue."

He proposed an amendment that would empower the commission to establish rate schedules.

Both Ashburn and Hough declared the central western freight territory railroads had agreed to adequate joint rates, but that the Eastern road had not co-operated in the rates' adjudication.

"The railroads apparently have a feeling that the barge lines still are an experimental service," Hough said. "The enactment of the Denison bill would aid in remedying this condition."

WILKINS PLANS TO START

NORTH POLE FLIGHT TODAY

Explorer and Pilot Ready for Hop-Off on 2100-Mile Trip If Weather Permits.

By the Associated Press.
SEWARD, Alaska, April 4.—Capt. George H. Wilkins informed the Government Radio Station here last night that, if he hops off on his projected flight from Point Barrow over the Arctic wastes, he will start at 6 o'clock this morning.

Wilkins, who established a base at Point Barrow recently, said weather conditions would largely determine whether he would attempt the 2100-mile flight to Spitsbergen. The weather was moderating and the barometer was dropping, he said, and he would wait.

Wilkins hopes to explore the Arctic in a plane piloted by Carl Ben Eielson, Sourdough aviator. This is their third attempt to explore the Polar Sea from Barrow. The principal objects of their proposed flight are to find the fabled Arctic continent and study weather tendencies.

SURGEONS END SESSION TODAY

The three-day session of the Southern Society of Clinical Surgeons, attended by 21 surgeons from 15 cities, will close today with inspection of Barnard Free Skin and Cancer Hospital, after lunch at the home of Dr. Willard Bartlett.

Recent devotions of surgeons have been studied in earlier sessions at Barnes Hospital and Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children and today at Missouri Baptist Sanitarium.

Any child can have beautiful healthy and luxuriant hair. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking and bright.

While children's hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effects of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoa-nut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust and dirt.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre. You can get Mulsified Cocoa-nut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

SAYS RAIL-WATER RATE WOULD AID BARGE LINES

Gen. T. Q. Ashburn Urges
I. C. C. to Investigate
Freight Plan.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 4. — The view was expressed before the House Commerce Committee today that the establishment of adequate joint rail-water freight rates is essential to the development of barge line transportation.

Major-General T. Q. Ashburn, executive director of the Inland Waterways Corporation, which operates the Government barge lines, and W. M. Hough, general freight agent of the Mississippi-Warrior lines, one of the Government services, testified to that effect at hearings on the Denison bill, to treble the $5,000,000 capital of the Waterways Corporation and to extend its service on several Mississippi River tributaries.

Gen. Ashburn urged that the Interstate Commerce Commission investigate the joint rates.

"The difficulty is not in the establishment of through routes and rates for joint rail and water transportation," he said, "but in the division of the revenue."

He proposed an amendment that would empower the commission to establish rate schedules.

Both Ashburn and Hough declared the central western freight territory railroads had agreed to adequate joint rates, but that the Eastern road had not co-operated in rates' adjudication.

"The railroads apparently have a feeling that the barge lines still are an experimental service," Hough said. "The enactment of the Denison bill would aid in remedying this condition."

Explorer and Pilot Ready for Hop-Off on 2100-Mile Trip If Weather Permits.

By the Associated Press.
SEWARD, Alaska, April 4. — Capt. George H. Wilkins informed the Government Radio Station here last night that, if he hops off on his projected flight from Point Barrow over the Arctic wastes, he will start at 6 o'clock this morning.

Wilkins, who established a base at Point Barrow recently, said weather conditions would largely determine whether he would attempt the 2100-mile flight to Spitsbergen. The weather was moderate and the barometer was dropping, but his luggage was sent.

Wilkins hopes to explore the Arctic in a plane piloted by Carl Ben Eielson, Sourdough aviator. This is their third attempt to explore the Polar Sea from Barrow. The principal objects of their proposed flight are to find the fabled Arctic continent and study weather tendencies.

Careless Washing
Spoils Children's Hair

Any child can have beautiful hair—healthy and luxuriant. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While children's hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere, now use Mulsified Coconut Oil Shampoo. The clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonsfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust and dirt.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil
Shampoo at any drug store.

INQUIRY PROMISED ON U. S. EMPLOYEES' TRIBUTE TO G. O. P.

New to Investigate Charge of Georgia Postmaster
Who Laid His Suicide to Forced Contributions.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 4.—An immediate investigation by the administration into charges that Federal employees in Georgia, particularly postmasters, are forced to contribute money to politicians to hold their jobs was promised yesterday by Postmaster-General New coincident with a demand for such an investigation by Senators George and Harris (Dems.), of Georgia.

Inquiry by the Senate into the Douglas (Ga.) postoffice case, which was disclosed in a letter from L. S. Peterson, former postmaster who killed himself last Sunday, to his brother, charging his action was due to forced contributions to the State Republican organization, was threatened by the Georgia Senators, if the administration investigation does not satisfy them.

New said he had not heard of forced contributions in this case. On the floor, George said it has been known for some time that Federal employees not only have to make contributions to political funds, return for appointment to office, but that "they must contribute month by month and year by year" in order to hold their offices.

"Offices Peddled."

"It is a sad commentary of free institutions when responsible offices are thus peddled and sold," he said.

Representative Lankford of Georgia, who represents the Douglas district, made public part of the letter he received from Peterson shortly after the suicide. It was postmarked at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and in a statement Lankford and Peterson "was probably dead when the postmark was stamped on the envelope."

The letter said:

"Many thanks for what you did for me. Mr. New by this hard decision on me and my family will make me do something that will always make my family hate Mr. New.

Can't Face Friends.
"I can't face my friends any longer. I know I am to blame but not altogether. If *** had given me the help he ought to with Kirkland we would be better off."

"He is not the friend to you that you think he is. He is a snake in the grass that changes with it. God bless you."

Before he took his own life Peterson killed his assistant, J. L. Kirkland. The reference in the letter to New's decision was to his order supplanting Peterson as postmaster.

By the Associated Press.

MADILL, Ok., April 4.—County Attorney Franz J. McKim, whose coat of armor plate failed to save him from gunfire of Sheriff Ed Long after the two officials had an argument in the Courthouse here Monday, died today at Sherman, Tex.

On learning of McKim's death, Sheriff Long went to the county jail and instructed the jailer to lock him up.

Witnesses said the Sheriff shot McKim when the latter threatened him with a revolver. McKim had donned a steel vest after an altercation with Long and approached the Sheriff, weapon in hand. One of the Sheriff's bullets glanced off the edge of the armor and entered the edge of McKim's abdomen.

U. S. GRAND JURY BEGINS CHICAGO BOMBING INQUIRY

Court Explains Laws Applicable to Attacks on Property or Person of Federal Officer.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 4.—Attorney-General Sargent today refused to authorize the appointment of special Federal deputies to maintain order at the polls in Chicago during the approaching primary election.

The Attorney-General held that he was not authorized by law to sanction the use of Federal agents at such elections. His decision was made known in a telegram sent to Palmer E. Anderson, United States Marshal at Chicago. The message said:

"In response to your request for authority to appoint special deputy marshals in connection with the coming primary election I find no ground for altering the decision made two years ago upon a similar request from you that there is no warrant of law for such authority and therefore I cannot grant your request."

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 4.—That the Federal grand jury, which began work today, quickly took up the Chicago crime situation was indicated by the early appearance before that body of George E. Q. Johnson, Federal District Attorney.

While Johnson, who always in past entrusted the grand jury work to an assistant, was before the investigators, George E. Golding, chief of a special prohibition squad, waited in an anteroom, ready to be called.

Johnson yesterday requested Judge James H. Wilkerson to instruct the jury especially as to its jurisdiction in offenses that have tendencies to infringe on the rights of voting citizens and in intimidation of threats against Federal officers.

Bomb Suspect Held.

Meanwhile Government operatives are holding Lorenzo Juliano for questioning in connection with an investigation of the bombing of the home of Senator Charles S. Deneen. Juliano may be taken to Indianapolis, where he is under indictment for violation of the prohibition law.

The jurors were told that they are empowered to indict persons who attack or threaten a Federal officer, persons who interfere with the voting rights of citizens, and persons who intimidate or corrupt witnesses in a legal proceeding.

"The District Attorney," said Judge Wilkerson, "has informed me that there are certain matters which are to be brought to your attention. In the light of that information I wish to charge you specially with reference to certain matters."

The Court then read provisions of the Federal Criminal Court, which make illegal the conspiracy of two or more persons "to prevent by force, intimidation or threat any person from accepting or holding any office of trust or place of confidence under the United States, or to injure him in his person or property on account of the lawful discharge of the duties of office."

SENATOR FESS TO MAKE G. O. P. KEYNOTE SPEECH

Ohioan Selected Because of His Consistent Support of the Policies of President Coolidge.

HAD BEEN PLEDGED TO SENATOR WILLIS

Second Choice Senator Curtis, Although He Had Said He Was Impressed by Hoover's Candidacy.

By the Associated Press
KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—Heralded as a staunch administration supporter and declared by party leaders as outstanding among the persons available, Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, has been chosen as temporary chairman and keynote speaker for the Republican National Convention here in June.

Selection of Senator Fess climaxed a two-day session of the national subcommittee on convention arrangements ending here yesterday.

In announcing the Ohio Senator had been named by unanimous vote, William M. Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican National Committee said no political significance could be attached to the selection. He added that the committee was interested only in choosing the best man available to outline the party principles.

While Butler declined to reveal details of the session, it was understood that he proposed Senator Fess after committee members offered him the privilege of being the first to present a candidate.

The Ohioan, along with Senator Moses of New Hampshire, had been mentioned most frequently in informal discussions involving the names of a half dozen others, including Senator Gillett of Massachusetts.

An Administration Supporter. However, when observers first placed the names of Fess and Moses at the top of the list of possibilities, it was pointed out that the Ohioan was a leader in administration affairs, while the New Hampshire Senator had not so aligned himself on several measures.

While the reported proposal of Fess by Butler was regarded by some as unusual, it was viewed by many as an outstanding tribute to the administration. Asked if the White House had been consulted, Chairman Butler replied that "it was not a question to bother Washington with."

Following the selection of the keynote speaker, a rumor was circulated that Senator Moses had been mentioned as a favorite for permanent convention chairman. The permanent chairman is elected by the delegates. Butler denied that the delegates had formally discussed the permanent chairman or the chairmanships of important subcommittees.

Fess An Avowed Dry. Known as a forceful speaker, Senator Fess will come here with a knowledge of national affairs obtained as a college professor, author of political works and editor, in addition to experience gained as assistant Republican whip in the Senate. He is one of the avowed drys in Congress.

He will be the third Ohioan in 12 years to serve as temporary chairman of his party's national convention. The late President Harding, then a Senator, was the "keynoter" in 1920 and in 1924. Theodore Burton of Cleveland, acted in that capacity when the convention was held in his home city.

Senator Fess last year was one of the leaders in the fight against the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. In this respect, he generally was regarded as somewhat of a spokesman for President Coolidge.

For a long time Fess has been in the movement to "draft" President Coolidge for another term. Last fall, however, on leaving the White House he said that the President had chided him for pursuing this course, explaining that in view of his Black Hills statement it was proving embarrassing. Shortly afterwards Fess expressed himself as impressed with the availability of Herbert Hoover as a presidential candidate.

When the contest developed in Ohio between Senator Willis, who died suddenly last Friday night, and Senator Hoover, Fess became one of the Willis candidates for delegate-at-large to the Kansas City convention. He declared for Senator Curtis of Kansas as his second choice.

Harry M. Blair, representative of the campaign organization of Herbert Hoover, expressed satisfaction with the selection. "Fess is all right with us from the ground up," Blair said.

Should Fess fail to be named a delegate in the Ohio primary of April 24, he would not be barred from serving as temporary chairman. Although it is customary to have a delegate as "keynoter," there is no binding requirement to that effect, and a precedent has been set for going outside the delegate list, notably in the case of the late "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1928

After disposing of the temporary chairmanship and inspecting convention facilities, the committee adjourned. It was not expected to meet again until shortly before the opening of the convention June 12. "We are pleased with the plans," Chairman Butler said, "except for a few details, all plans are ready, and there should be no hitch." He expects to return here the last week in May.

Ticket Distribution Postponed.

It was decided to open convention headquarters on the second floor of the Security Building at Eleventh and Main streets, four blocks from convention hall. Credentials and other sub-committees will be located elsewhere.

The committee hopes hearing of contests can get under way the latter part of May, so that this business will be completed by June 9. Action on ticket distribution was postponed. Revised contracts on hotel rooms will date from June 11, on a five-day basis. The local arrangements committee announced it would protect against losses from cancellation of these contracts. Hotels will not be permitted to collect a deposit of 25 per cent as was planned originally. J. Henry Roraback, committee man from Connecticut, was designated to look after awarding of contracts to news reel companies to film convention proceedings.

Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, National committee-woman from Kentucky, in charge of decorations, announced that a large portrait of President Coolidge would be the only picture used in decorating the hall. The picture will be placed behind the speakers' stand.

James C. White, assistant to Chairman Butler, remained here to assist local committeemen.

ST. LOUIS TALKS TO INDUSTRIAL PITTSBURGGeorge C. Smith Tells How Cities Use Modern Sales
Methods to Expand Business

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HARRISBURG, Pa., April 4.—During the first four years of Baltimore's pioneer effort to develop industrially by use of modern sales practice on a large scale its Industrial Bureau announced 303 new industries and 424 expansions of existing plants with a total new plant investment of $139,852,200. So George C. Smith, former head of the Baltimore Industrial Bureau and now director of the St. Louis Industrial Bureau, told a group of real estate and business men here last night.

Smith used the Baltimore figures to illustrate his thesis that a community, given the natural resources, can expand by broadcasting its industrial advantages and going out after new industries through a combination of advertising, direct-mail campaigns, personal solicitation and preparation of engineering talent. Baltimore, he said, undertaken the pioneer effort in this direction in 1919, with Smith as head of its Industrial Bureau for four years.

"Communities have come to realize," he declared, "that to make a prompt increase in their size and wealth it is necessary to bring in new wealth. The rapid recent growth of Detroit, Cleveland, Akron, Baltimore, Newark and our West Coast cities has stimulated a desire by other cities to grow in proportion.

"A city's future prosperity depends upon development of manufacturing and shipping. As manufacturing is a direct producer of wealth, it is a most stable dependence."

Baltimore's outstanding success, he explained, "has resulted simply from the gathering into concrete shape information concerning the many and varied advantages which appeal with special force to the hard-headed business man."

Baltimore's industrial progress, he said, has continued probably unequaled by any other city in the country in proportion to population.

"The removal of major portions of large established industries can be accomplished only because of aggressive community action or because of superior economic conditions provided by other places," he added. "New England has lost her prominence in builders' hardware trade because of superior market relations promised by more westerly cities and because many of these cities are closer to raw materials, cheap fuel and have lower wage scales."

Switchman Dies of Injuries.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HANNIBAL, Mo., April 4.—David Evans Barley, 28 years old, a switchman on the St. Louis-Hannibal Railroad, who resided in this city, died in a hospital here Friday night of injuries suffered 10 hours previously, when he slipped and fell under a St. Louis and Hannibal Railroad freight train at Clawson Switch, two miles north of Bowling Green, Mo. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Burd Barley, a 15-year-old son, Floyd; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Barley, and two sisters, Mrs. William Hery and Mrs. Hugo Murphy of Great Falls, Mont.

Why wait a week
for a Europe that can begin tomorrow? Take a through train to quaint old French Montreal, or Quebec. Glide down the St. Lawrence between French-Canadian farms and villages, and see what the old world can offer... on ships as charmingly hospitable. No, it isn't fatherly; actually saves 2 days open sea! No, it doesn't cost more; ask for fares of cruise-famous Empresses, the regal new Duchesses, or their sister Cable ships... while you can still get the accommodations you want. It's lots more fun this way.

"For some time I had been having an awful time with pains in my back and sides," says Mrs. Robert Crowley, of 11th and Locust. "This awful headache would come on me and I could find nothing to ease the pain. My head would ache until I felt as if it would split open."

"I was very weak and nervous. It looked like the least little thing would upset me. I was cross with the children, and had no patience for anything. Often, when I would get up in the morning, I would have to go back to bed, I was so weak."

Year after year they have freely provided many longed-for articles which otherwise might not have been obtainable—created many a saving which otherwise would not have been realized.

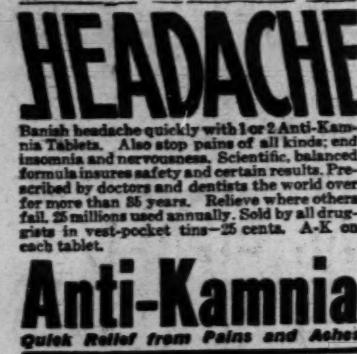

That millions of people are today saving Eagle Stamps is the highest endorsement of this simple way to save. It is our incentive to continue in the future the same kind of faithful service that we have rendered in the past. For twenty-five years the Eagle Discount Stamp Company has made good on every promise. It has promptly redeemed every stamp book in full. Its pledged word has never been broken.

Over three-thousand progressive merchants throughout the Central West give Eagle Stamps with your cash purchases of 10c and over. If you are saving Eagle Stamps, you already know the benefits to be gained from them. If you do not save them, you are overlooking a chance to obtain an extra $2 in cash or $2.50 in merchandise on every book you fill. Try them... they are no bother, no extra expense. The Independent ticket defeated the Citizens' ticket in four out of five contests in Nameoki Township, which includes most of Granite City. A heavy vote was cast. The only successful candidate on the Citizens' ticket was H. H. Walker, a street car conductor, who defeated L. E. Land, who was seeking re-election as Town Clerk. The vote in the seven precincts was 1785 for Walker and 1615 for Land. Others elected, all on the Independent ticket, were: William Wetzell, Assessor; Henry C. Hecht, Collector; William D. Branding, Highway Commissioner; John Harbig, School Trustee.

In Venies Township, which includes Venice, Madison and part of Granite City, the Labor ticket won without opposition. Officers elected were: Pearl Smith, Supervisor; Frank Ritz, Town Clerk; J. H. Krill, Assessor; George Darling, Collector; Dr. Ralph B. Scott, School Trustee; A. A. Berger, Highway Commissioner.

Collinsville Township, which includes Collinsville, elected Joseph Mash, Clerk; Assessor, Henry G. Schoettle; Collector, Tony O'Farrell; Highway Commissioner, Edward Kappisch; Justices of the Peace, Louis F. Verneuil; Constable, Fred Lange; School Trustee.

Edward Rosevear,
Wood River Township, which includes Wood River, elected two Justices of the Peace and three Constables to fill the enforced vacancies caused by resignations due to Violated violations. The new Justices are: E. A. Cobins and F. E. Baker; Constables, George A. Reithman, Robert V. Ford and Gabe Jones.

There were two women candidates in Madison County. Both were defeated. They were Mrs. Annaearle Warma, running for Justice of the Peace in Collinsville Township, and Mrs. Esther Moore, candidate for Supervisor of Leef Township.

Helvetia Township, which includes Highland, elected: Clerk, Louis Iberg; Assessor, Adolph Yung; Constable, George Pyle; School Trustee, F. C. Kuhn; Collector, Fred Rutz; Highway Commissioner, Louis Monken.

Oscar Philipp, cafe owner, was in his second-floor bedroom at 4441 Olive street, at 2:40 a. m. today, when a man appeared at a window, pointed a pistol at Philipp and commanded:

"Come over here and bring your coat and pants."

Philipp hopped out of bed and carried his clothes to the window. The man removed 123, a check for $22 and a watch and disappeared.

Investigation disclosed he had climbed a fire escape to the roof of an adjoining one-story building, from which he peered into Philipp's room.

Leonard Dotson, manager of a Kroger store at 3000 McNair avenue, was held up at 7:05 a. m. by an armed man who took $50. A holdup man obtained $15.25 at the Novelty Neckwear Co., 303 Morgan street, at 9:15 a. m.

Other holdups reported were: Michael and Gus Petson, brothers, 454 Bell avenue, robbed of $4; Sam Tamm, 1346 Olive street, in place $65; Mrs. Anna Schulz, 515 Mandan avenue, held up by a man who struck her, but fled without loot when she struck back and screamed.

William O. Long, owner of the Rappahannock Apartments, 5577 Delmar boulevard, reported $195 in rent collections stolen from the building.

Mrs. Ada Weltner, 5401 Vernon avenue, reported theft of two rings valued at $470.

A thief who took a watch from the apartment of Mrs. Edna Ramsey, 5575 Delmar boulevard, escaped after fighting off the building custodian, Earl Townsend, who encountered him in a corridor.

NEED LIKELY TO BE
CHOICE OF IOWA
AFTER GOV. SMITH

State Democratic Delegation
Almost Certain to Back New Yorker as Long as He Has Chance.

3500 HEAR SENATOR
AT DES MOINES

Missourian Says He Is Convinced Hays Helped Prepare
Fall's Letter in Teapot Dome Scandal.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 4.—The Iowa delegation in the Democratic national convention in Houston, with 26 votes, is reasonably certain to be a Smith delegation, with Senator James A. Reed the second choice. Even if a few Reed men should be chosen the adoption of the unit rule, which is expected, will prevent them from being cast for him as long as there is a possibility of Smith's nomination.

Reed, who spoke in Des Moines last night to an audience of more than $50, has a strong following in the State, where he resided in his boyhood and early manhood, but the political signs are just not right for him to be the State's first choice for the presidency this year. The reason for the existing condition is one usually avoided in public analysis of politics. It is religion.

In Iowa in recent years there has been a steady political change, an alteration of party make-ups. One result has been the election of insurgent or progressive Republicans instead of standpatters, and many Democrats have joined with the Republicans in that policy. A consequence has been that the Democratic party in Iowa consists largely of the Irish and Catholic voters.

Demand Smith's Nomination.
Party leaders seem to have heard a demand from this group of voters for Smith's nomination, and the controlling influences of the party in the State have bent their energies to that end. In effect it is a case of self-preservation for the party leaders.

Leading the Smith forces is Wilbur Marsh, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee. Marsh, by all the political indications, would be a supporter of Senator Reed, but he is leading the fight for Smith delegates, and it is as certain as anything can be in politics that he will succeed.

It is said here by well informed Democrats that Marsh and many of those closely associated with him in the Smith organization, will be glad if the time comes in the convention when they can carry the Iowa delegation to Reed, but that will come only in case Smith's nomination is blocked. It will not be blocked with any help from the party.

Delegates to the State convention being elected this week in the counties and according to information received in Des Moines the Marsh organization is having its way virtually everywhere. The State convention to select delegates will be April 20.

Meredith a "Favorable Son." The anti-Smith element in the State brought forth E. T. Meredith, former Secretary of Agriculture, as a favorite son candidate, but Meredith, who is sick, has done little to advance the plan, and there is not much chance that he will be a figure. He was unable to attend the Reed meeting last night, but Marsh occupied a seat on the platform a far back seat it is true, but he was there and was quite vigorous in his applause of the Senator.

There has been little activity at organization work for Reed in the State, though in Des Moines there is a group actively supporting him.

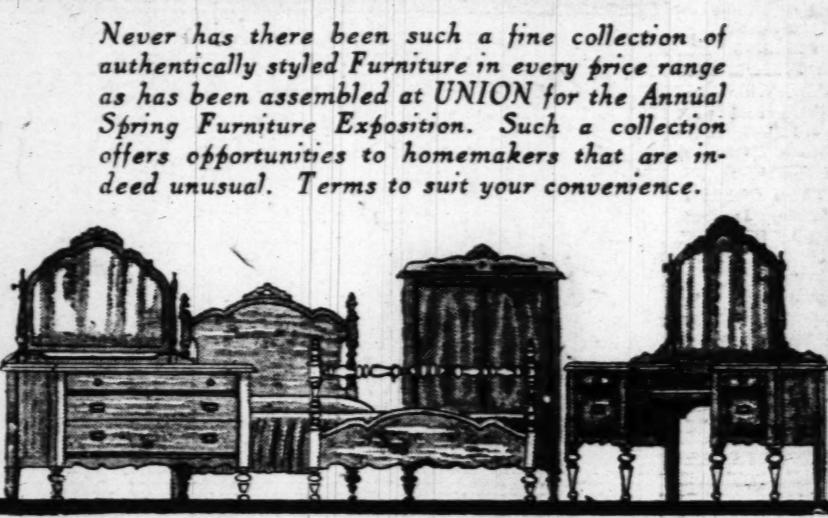

Asserting his speech last night that morally there is little difference between managers of a political party accepting huge campaign funds from great corporations to which the party in control of the Government grants favors, and the transfer of public lands to Sinclair and Doheny, Reed said:

"In such cases who are to be managers of a political party to syndicate the parts of Government to their advantage?"

The syndicate controlling the Republican party and the Government is in sore straits. It needs reorganizing. No wonder it is seriously considering to obtain an expert organizer of syndicates, who Missourian Says He Is Convinced Hays Helped Prepare Fall's Letter in Teapot Dome Scandal.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 4.—The Iowa delegation in the Democratic national convention in Houston, with 56 votes, is reasonably certain to be a Smith delegation, with Senator James A. Reed the second choice. Even if a few Reed men should be chosen the adoption of the unit rule, which is expected, will prevent them from being cast for him as long as there is a possibility of Smith's nomination.

Reed, who spoke in Des Moines last night to an audience of more than 3500, has a strong following in the State, where he resided in his boyhood and early manhood, but the political signs are just not right for him to be the State's first choice for the presidency this year. The reason for the existing condition is one usually avoided in public analysis of politics. It is religion.

In Iowa in recent years there has been a steady political change, an alteration of party make-ups. One result has been the election of insurgent or progressive Republicans instead of standpatters, and many Democrats have joined with the Republicans in that policy. A consequence has been that the Democratic party in Iowa consists largely of the Irish and Catholic voters.

Demand Smith's Nomination. Party leaders seem to have heard a demand from this group of voters for Smith's nomination, and the controlling influences of the party in the State have bent their energies to that end. In effect it is a case of self-preservation for the party leaders.

Leading the Smith forces is Wilbur Marsh, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee. Marsh, by all the rules of political affiliation, should be a supporter of Senator Reed, but he is leading the fight for Smith delegates, and it is as certain as anything can be in politics that he will succeed.

As for "pineaapple," Chicago slang for bomb, persons in touch with underworld affairs have told the writer there are now two pineapple factories operating. Machine guns being hard to get hold of, the cheap pineapple is becoming a substitute.

The old term "gang" is "giving way to "mob." Gangsters, gunmen, racketeers or roughs are generalized under the name of "hoodlum." A dry agent or anybody else who can be bribed is said to "take."

A square dance is "up the up and up." Any place where beer or booze is sold is a "spot." All the higher ups are "the big shots." Any big shot who looks after protection for a spot is "fronting" for that spot. A place where hard liquor is laid in to age is called a "cottage." And of speakeasies there are all varieties—"beer flats," "big joints" and "offices."

Where: Office, Sell Beer. In some office buildings in the loop there are five and six "offices." To all outer appearances they are ordinary business offices. You pass from the corridor and find typewriters, a desk. If you are known on can enter the office. You are "on the up and up" when you open another door and you walk into a barroom, with comfortable tables. You can take out all the liquor you want. Most offices supply bottled beer. A few of them even have draught beer, bringing up the barrels on the freight elevators.

The writer has talked with a number of proprietors of such places, and they estimate that from 200 to 400 are running inside the loop, that small heart of Chicago's business section.

Booze Graft, $30,000,000. Former United States Attorney Edward Olson estimated that $30,000,000 is the booze graft alone last year in Chicago.

As for vice, the writer stood on Michigan avenue before the Tribune tower and flagged 10 successive taxicabs late at night, and every driver knew the address of a disorderly house and no two of them the same. The drivers grew somewhat hostile on being quizzed and denied they received any percentage on trade they brought to the door, but competent authority says that they do receive their "sling."

In each case those who are to be beneficiaries conspire with the managers of a political party to syndicate the powers of Government to their advantage.

The syndicate controlling the Republican party and the Government is in sore straits. It needs reorganizing. No wonder it is seriously considering to obtain an expert organizer of syndicates, who

Picture of a City Wide Open Includes Gambling Houses to Fit All Purse and 10,000 Bootlegging "Spots," All Protected by Fixed Tribute, With Sudden Death the Penalty for Trying to Beat the Politico-Criminal Alliance.

This is the third of a series of dispatches from a staff reporter of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World, who was sent to Chicago to look into the background of the relations of crime and big politics.

By DUDLEY NICHOLS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

CHICAGO, April 4.—The Crowe-Thompson machine does not hold Chicago in its grip without opposition. Just now United States Senator Charles H. Deneen is fighting for control of the Republican power, and that's what all the shootin's fer.

Take "Diamond Joe" Esposito, for instance. He was a Democrat, nondenominational power in West Side politics, and this time was run over by the Crowe-Thompson candidate for boss of the Twenty-fifth Ward.

The papers say "Diamond Joe" was twice approached and told, "Get out of politics in the Twenty-fifth Ward, or . . ."

Bombings Follow Killing.

Ten days ago he was shot down by shotgun assassins near his home. But they gave him a fine $50,000 funeral. The same night Deneen's house was bombed, as was that of Deneen's candidate against State's Attorney Crowe.

This family row among the local Republicans, which is to be settled at the primary, April 10, may emphasize the complete breakdown of law enforcement in Chicago, but should not divert attention from the underlying situation. The Crowe-Thompson machine will have for the most part, the most active places, in Sheffield, is run, or was run up until a few days ago, by Sam Gessler, candidate for Clerk of the Superior Court on the Crowe-Thompson ticket.

Thousands of men in Chicago either operate a resort or have a piece of "junk," which is the name for gambling houses, and in the black belt, on the South Side the gambling houses are beginning to crowd out the drug stores and candy shops.

"Gambling Place for Women." A complete place for women is Jerry O'Connor's in South Wabash avenue, with a richly furnished room, uniformed attendants and lounges. Gorman & Murphy's in South Clark street is said to be the biggest gambling house in Chicago, with 1500 players jammed within its doors and men announcing racing results through megaphones.

"The President," said Hawes, "had evidently been getting some bad advice on the Jones bill. It is true, as the President is reported to believe, that the ultimate cost of control works in the Mississippi Valley will run between $600,000,000 and $1,000,000,000, but the Jones bill authorized only $225,000,000, and at the present rate of expenditure on the river, this will expire in eight to ten years."

The bill, it is said, stands in the way of a complete control of the river.

"So far as the immediate authorization goes, there is only about $15,000,000 difference between the Jones bill as passed and the original Jones bill, which I understand the President approved. It is hard for me to believe that he would veto the pending bill because of that difference—a wholly negligible one when you consider the total cost involved."

"Apparently the President is still guided by Gen. Jadwin, whose plan was disapproved by nearly everyone who witnessed at committee hearings. The President needs some advisers who will explain to him the injustice of expecting local contributions from states whose levee districts have already been bled white in their effort to curb the river.

"Floods in the lower valley in the last 25 years have cost $400,000,000, and the people there have already contributed $29,000,000. They have done more than their share. In some of the states, changes in the laws and even in the constitutions would be necessary before the states could contribute. This would result in serious delays in the work."

"The President, I repeat, should call in some advisers who know the situation. If he does that, I cannot conceive that he will stand in the way of the pending measure."

Enemies Slain by Treachery.

Chicago has a number of "bumping off" or "pinheads" on the spot. The depth of cold-blooded treachery these terms imply is shown by the fact that each requires the confidence of a "friend" who will act as decoy. When a man is taken for a ride, in the hoodlum sense, he climbs into a car with somebody he knows, and perhaps two or three others. At a convenient spot a gun is thrust against his heart and the trigger pulled and a moment later a body is thrown to the roadside stretch out endlessly—now are employed as "fronts."

"Friend or mine, Spike Moran, put in place back of an express office," cracked the proprietor of "Now" in a small grocery.

"Now he gets five or six calls a day. 'Gee,' he tells me, 'what's I'm going to do with that racket?' I tell him he oughta turn it over to somebody who can use it."

An agent of the Thompson (no relation) Machine Gun Co. is reported as saying there are more than a dozen of these weapons in the hands of gangsters. This deadly affair, no bulkier than a short rifle, can pour a stream of a hundred bullets a second or spit them out in jets of 10.

As for "pineapple," Chicago slang for bomb, persons in touch with underworld affairs have told the writer there are now two pineapple factories operating. Machine guns being hard to get hold of, the cheap pineapple is becoming a substitute.

The old term "gang" is "giving way to "mob." Gangsters, gunmen, racketeers or roughs are generalized under the name of "hoodlum."

A dry agent or anybody else who can be bribed is said to "take."

A square dance is "up the up and up."

Any place where beer or booze is sold is a "spot."

All the higher ups are "the big shots."

Any big shot who looks after protection for a spot is "fronting" for that spot.

A place where hard liquor is laid in to age is called a "cottage."

And of speakeasies there are all varieties—"beer flats," "big joints" and "offices."

Where: Office, Sell Beer.

In some office buildings in the loop there are five and six "offices."

To all outer appearances they are ordinary business offices.

You pass from the corridor and find typewriters, a desk.

If you are known on can enter the office.

You are "on the up and up" when you open another door and you walk into a barroom, with comfortable tables.

You can take out all the liquor you want. Most offices supply bottled beer. A few of them even have draught beer, bringing up the barrels on the freight elevators.

The writer has talked with a number of proprietors of such places, and they estimate that from 200 to 400 are running inside the loop, that small heart of Chicago's business section.

Booze Graft, $30,000,000.

Former United States Attorney Edward Olson estimated that $30,000,000 is the booze graft alone last year in Chicago.

As for vice, the writer stood on Michigan avenue before the Tribune tower and flagged 10 successive taxicabs late at night, and every driver knew the address of a disorderly house and no two of them the same. The drivers grew somewhat hostile on being quizzed and denied they received any percentage on trade they brought to the door, but competent authority says that they do receive their "sling."

In each case those who are to be beneficiaries conspire with the managers of a political party to syndicate the powers of Government to their advantage.

The syndicate controlling the Republican party and the Government is in sore straits. It needs reorganizing. No wonder it is seriously considering to obtain an expert organizer of syndicates, who

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Friends of the Jones flood control bill, which was passed by the Senate last week with only one voice raised in dissent, and is now before the House, were aroused to-day by a strong intimation from the White House that the bill is not being moved into line with the administration's ideas on flood control, the President will veto it.

Senator Hawes of Missouri, a leader in the fight for the bill, expressed confidence that a veto would be overridden both in the House and the Senate.

"The President," said Hawes, "had evidently been getting some bad advice on the Jones bill. It is true, as the President is reported to believe, that the ultimate cost of control works in the Mississippi Valley will run between $600,000,000 and $1,000,000,000, but the Jones bill authorized only $225,000,000, and at the present rate of expenditure on the river, this will expire in eight to ten years."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Call for the White Wings.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
It seems that in the Dark Ages of civilization the things called street cleaners were considered essential and necessary, but not now. Now we here in St. Louis have become too modernized for such antiquated methods of cleaning dirt and filth of years' accumulation.

Now we have vacuum cleaners which make their slow, careful way over the city's streets, taking all waste material which might lie in its path. If you are a very lucky person you too, may witness this activity in ultra-modernized methods, and learn how the streets of our fair city are kept free from dirt.

But only the lucky enjoy the privilege. Some say these monster machines come out of hibernation between 3 and 4 in the morning on the 21st of December each year. But I am of the opinion they are piloted by some Thurston-like person who has their dark magic on them, making them invisible to the eye.

What of the lines of men who wait along Market street for work to come their way? Why doesn't our dear city government put brooms into their hands and gold into their pockets and for once have a city free from dirt and flying particles?

We are proud of St. Louis and are always ready to defend its name when an outsider begins to slander it. Yet the Street Cleaning Department gets away with the abuse of uttering it to be a one-horse town. JOS SCRUTCH.

Dr. MacIvor's Action.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I NOTICE that Dr. MacIvor is attempting to secure a parole for Edwards W. Grant. I think this is simply an outrage. Here is a man who, with his associates, absolutely ruined several people, and I am astonished that a minister of the Gospel, who would be expected to uphold the law, should attempt to secure his release and parole.

What correction is the law if this sort of thing is to be the order?

Pay for Tornado Militiamen.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I NOTE with much interest a news item stating that there is a "twelve million balance in State treasury." It is a pity that with this vast amount of money "on hand" our worthy Governor cannot find money to pay just debt of slightly over $4000 which is now due.

Last Saturday, the Governor, "unanimously" ordered the St. Louis militia of the Missouri Naval Militia to active duty to assist the Police Department in caring for the stricken and protecting their property. The organization responded to a man immediately. Their value to the Police Department during this emergency can best be determined from a talk with Chief of Police Gerk.

Had the Governor asked us to volunteer our services the response would have been the same. The man made considerable financial sacrifice as it was, and a few dollars more wouldn't have made any difference. Still, the Governor did not enlighten us of the poverty of the State or ask us to volunteer our services, but, instead, ordered us to active duty, he thereby obligated the State to pay the men their small active duty pay. Information is requested on what grounds does he refuse to release money to pay these 200 men?

County Water Company's Valuation.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I QUOTE the following from the Post-Dispatch account of the latest step in the effort of the St. Louis County Water Co. to obtain a valuation based on reproduction new:

The principal net additions to the property in the last two years, as shown by the accountants, include $74,763 in distribution mains.

Investigation will show, I think, that this figure paid for, not by the water company, but by the man who will be asked to pay the highest bill for water. Tom, Dick and Harry put their hard-earned money to extend the mains for the company, $1.65 per foot for a 6-inch main, cash in advance. Then they are to be asked to pay a higher rate because the company's valuation has increased!

How to Get Your Daily Dozen.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

JUST about the time we became accustomed to the back-door entrance, we are chased back to the front door. Excellent idea this, giving the public needed exercise. I ran for a car one morning recently on Sunday and reached the back door, had to chisel to the front door, one-man car, you know, thereby adding to my strenuous exercise. The courteous one-man-car-man let everybody have their exercise without exercising his limbs. If they didn't catch on to the trick, on he went, leaving the surprised car rider to wait for the other car on the line to come along. The one-man car should be quite a saving to the P. S. and we may soon be looking forward to a reduction in fare and an increase in wages to the courteous one-man operator.

A KLANSMAN'S CONFESSION.

Convict Stephenson, serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Michigan City, Ind., is not a reliable witness, but the testimony he is giving as to operations of the Ku Klux Klan is credible for three reasons.

1. It is corroborated in many essentials by facts of record.

2. He speaks from first-hand knowledge as one of the most powerful leaders developed by the organization.

3. The kind of government which the Klan administered is the kind of government a secret society, unofficial dictatorship always produces.

The men who achieve and retain command in such organizations, whatever their qualities of leadership, are never distinguished by poise, responsibility or sense of obligation. Such camorras are conceived in intolerance, they are animated by sentiments violative of our fundamental law, they are in rebellion against all our traditions. Their brief ascendancy is inevitably marked by the excesses of brutality, criminality and tyranny which Stephenson is reciting in his deposition.

Stephenson is now pleading for mercy before the bar of that public opinion he once so arrogantly reviled. That is the real purport of his accusations against his former associates and superiors. He pleads as a victim of the "imperial wizard's" vengeance and unwittingly portrays himself as contemptible beyond expression. Here he was, charged with an unspeakable crime, yet he did not take the stand in his own defense, for death would have been the penalty had he done so. The threat had been made, he avers, and would have been carried out. Rather than die he chose the degradation of the verdict that made him a pariah and condemned him to the infamy of life imprisonment. All this he volunteers under oath, unaware of the abject moral and spiritual destitution he thus attests.

Of such was the leadership of the Klan.

THE SANDINO ORCHID.

In the hothouses of the Missouri Botanical Garden at Gray's Summit, where the blue haze of the Ozarks has been substituted for our city smoke, there are thousands of orchids from every country under the tropical sun.

Now we have vacuum cleaners which make their slow, careful way over the city's streets, taking all waste material which might lie in its path. If you are a very lucky person you too, may witness this activity in ultra-modernized methods, and learn how the streets of our fair city are kept free from dirt.

STREET CARS AND BUSES.

With net profits of $119,374.91 for the past year, 117 machines on the streets and more coming from the shops, the People's Motor Bus Co. of St. Louis does something more than report an improvement in fortune.

It confirms the foresight of the Board of Aldermen, who have just repudiated an attempt to tie the city up with the street car system in a rapid transit survey. If the board will be equally farsighted in the matter of the new franchise which the street car company is seeking it will render the community a great service.

Street cars are not holding their own in metropolitan transportation. They have a monopoly in St. Louis. There is neither elevated nor subway. Yet for the 73 days of summer last year the street cars reported a loss of 2,053,802 passengers in five years a growth from one to five garages and from 17 to 177 machines. It earned in 1926 $2,323,243, whereas last year its earnings were $2,309,683. In surrendering his receivership of the street car system a few months ago Rolla Wells reported that in three years the buses had taken away from the street cars $19,288 in revenue.

The handwriting on the wall could hardly have been plainer than this at the feast of Belshazzar. The city would be a dullard to hitch itself up with a dying horse. It would be a fool to first give the street car system the use of the streets for 30 years more and then have to pay for all the tracks forced into disuse by other forms of transportation.

A BOMB ARGUMENT.

The emergence within recent times of bombs as political arguments in Chicago circles seems destined to give rise to differences of opinion, amounting in some instances to positive hard feelings, over the question of who thought of it first, or, at any rate, who first put it into effect.

Gentlemen on each side of the debate, with courtesy that is somewhat overdone, give credit to their honorable opponents. Senator Deneen, whose home was bombed, ascribes it to the misguided zeal of "Big Bill" Thompson's henchmen and construes it as an effort to put him out of politics by the shortest known route. Thompson says it was done by some of Deneen's friends to make it appear that the Thompsonites are resorting to rude methods, when they wouldn't think of doing anything like that.

The argument, stimulated by day-by-day bombings here and there, is becoming heated and seems unlikely to lead anywhere, except, possibly, to more bombings, whereas there are enough as it is. That is what comes of using bombs as political arguments. The only answer is more bombs. Nothing is ever really settled. These things used to be done better. Gentlemen who were opposed to each other in a political way met in joint debate and voters were thereby enlightened as to the issues of the campaign and were assisted in deciding between them. There was some sense in that. But it is hard for voters, with the best intentions, to choose between bombs, all bombs being a good deal alike.

All this is taking place in a little county election. It is to be hoped that it will not spread. A national election with bombs as arguments would be very confusing. Everybody would want to know what all the noise was about and nobody would be likely to find out. It is a good deal that way now.

WHAT PRICE PATRONAGE?

Federal jobs come high in the South. The case of that Postmaster of Douglas, Ga., who committed suicide after killing one of his clerks, is, of course, a gawsmore exception. His explanation, too, must be read with reservations. The organization demands upon him for money were insatiable, he says. Made desperate by debt and the loss of his office, for which he had paid extortiously, he took the bloody way out.

The story of blackmail, for that is what it amounts to, may be exaggerated. The tragedy is a fact. It ought to serve to arouse sentiment against the thoroughly vicious system of political patronage in the South.

A glimpse of the practice was revealed in the famous correspondence in which C. Bascom Slemp figured some years ago. Appointments, in some instances at least, are seemingly a matter of competitive bidding, and "donations" are regularly levied as party exigencies require.

Besides the graft inseparable from such a system, its corrupting effect upon politics is inevitable. It has long been notorious that delegations to Republican national conventions from the South are purchasable quantities. The ability to control and deliver this support gives its possessor a formidable and malignant power in the vital business of nominating a presidential candidate. The practice is bad from every standpoint. It is indefensible from every standpoint.

Efforts have been made to take the postoffices out of politics by putting them all in the classified service. Such a plan might not be a complete cure, but it would be helpful. Certainly it is worth trying. Almost any departure would be an improvement over the present method.

Since Harry Sinclair will be the principal issue in the presidential campaign, why not let him make the keynote speech at the Kansas City convention?

THE LINDBERGH TROPHIES.

Former Mayor Henry W. Kiel, president of the Municipal Opera Association, saw the point of the Post-Dispatch editorial protesting against the sacrifice of the Lindbergh trophies to the housing of the opera chorus. He says the Municipal Opera will find another hall to rehearse the chorus, that the occupying of the west wing of the Jefferson Memorial was a mere temporary makeshift and that the structure ought not to be used for a chorus training hall.

The Missouri Historical Society will thus be enabled to occupy the west wing of the Jefferson Memorial and to supply adequate space for the Lindbergh trophies.

We indulge the hope that Col. Lindbergh will permit St. Louis to retain the trophies for public exhibition. Col. Lindbergh has promised his plane "The Spirit of St. Louis" to the Smithsonian Institution, but we cherish the hope that St. Louis will eventually get that historical exhibit of the Colonel's historic flight.

Even with the west wing of the Jefferson Memorial, the Missouri Historical Society will not have adequate space to house a great museum, including the aviation exhibit. We repeat the suggestion that plans be made to construct wings to the Jefferson Memorial and thus prepare for a museum worthy of St. Louis.

THE ROYAL OAK AFFAIR.

We have been agog with excitement over the Royal Oak affair, involving Rear Admiral Bernard St. G. Collard of the British Navy. Vague advance reports made it appear as though it were a serious business and we feared mightily for the integrity of the Mediterranean fleet. Was it mutiny? Was the service glorified by a long line of Drakes and Nelsons to have a first-rate scandal? Slowly the complaints against Admiral Collard have been seeping out. As nearly as we can make out the Admiral

1. Thought the Marine band aboard the Royal Oak was rotten and wanted it replaced by a jazz orchestra.

2. Complained that there were a great many ladies at a dancing party aboard the ship who were not provided with partners.

3. That he refused to answer a salute of officers and that he actually "cut Captain Dewar dead."

Shades of Trafalgar! Is this the sort of thing to which His Majesty's Navy has descended? No wonder Britannia no longer rules the waves; no wonder Great Britain attends conferences designed to reduce its capital ships. What is the use of having a navy when the officers of the fleet get into a row over such trivialities as these? What would Britain do if she had a flock of Sims, Plunketts and Maugrubs to contend with?

THE TACITURN MR. HAYS.

The word comes from Paris. Informed that he was the ex-Cabinet officer who, with Senator Smoot and former Senator Lenroot, had advised Fall to write the McLean letter, Will Hays said: "I will not comment on any phase of the oil question while in Europe." And if that senatorial committee would stop badgering him Mr. Hays would never comment on any phase of the oil question while in the United States.

So why not the Sandino orchid? We cannot give him what he wants. He wants his country left alone, and we are not doing this for any Caribbean country.

But we could name an orchid for him—a blood red and beautiful orchid exactly symbolizing the trait and the loveliness of his ideal.

The only objection to it of which we can think is that it might congest traffic on the Manchester road when the orchid bloomed.

THE LEGENDARY GLADSTONE.

When I first entered the House of Commons there sat huddled up on the Treasury bench a man who had been associated with Canning, who had served in a Government with the Duke of Wellington. * * * If Chatham had been sitting there he would not have seemed much more remote.

Thus Lloyd George, in a moving tribute to Gladstone. Truly, Gladstone was a legendary figure in British, and, indeed, in the world's imagination while yet in the flesh, but one wonders if Lloyd George did not scramble his history somewhat in presenting the noblest commoner of the Victorian era as a connecting link in that vital, dramatic continuity of three generations of English statesmanship. Surely the aging Canning with whom the youthful Gladstone served was not the great Canning who delivered "the first blow that shook the throne of Napoleon." That was George Canning, 1770-1820, protege of Chatham, who was born and lives in the books as Pitt. Gladstone was not the third figure "in the long passage," as Lloyd George implies. That figure is Palmerston, whom Philip Guedalla has thus etched: "Beyond doubt, the last of the Cannings, and so the last fragment of the eighteenth century."

Mr. Fall advances the postulate that one man could not have devised all that rascality, and we don't think he could.

gained a large experience abroad." Obviously this was a reference to Secretary Hoover.

Tracey Off Graft Expose.
As he has done in previous speeches, Reed traced the disclosures of the oil graft investigation to the several Cabinet members who had knowledge of it, or who knew of the Sinclair contribution of bonds to the National committee.

Former Postmaster-General Hays concealed the facts and purposely deceived the Senate committee," Reed asserted. Referring to Secretary Fall's testimony Monday, said he believed it would be proved that Hays assisted in preparing the famous "McLean letter" sent by Fall to the Senate committee in 1923 in an effort to conceal the $100,000 Doheny payment.

"According to Fall's testimony," Reed said, "Hays, Lenroot and Smoot conspired with him to manufacture a story which would conceal the fact that he had received the Doheny bribe. Whether this testimony is true or false, I do not know, but Hays has up to this time failed to deny, and I believe he will be proven to have helped prepare the McLean letter."

He touched upon Boah's conscience fund collections. "The conscience fund does not seem to prosper," he said. "It now appears that, if the Senator settles with Sinclair, he will be compelled to give up about one-half of the dollars. The responsibility for the 'conscience' of the Republican party will probably pay the smallest dividend on record."

Discusses Farm Conditions.

Being in the agricultural middle West for the first time in several weeks, Reed discussed farm conditions, largely from the standpoint of the effect of the tariff on the farmer. He said the bankrupt condition of most farming communities was due to the Republican administration's action in deflating the currency. He paid his respects to Secretary Hoover, whom he charged with responsibility for limiting the price of wheat to $2.20 during the war, and also ridiculed the career of former Gov. Lowden of Illinois that he was the friend of the farmer.

Although there were many Republicans in the audience last night Reed was received enthusiastically and was applauded frequently.

He will speak tonight in Omaha, Neb., and after a day of rest at his home in Kansas City, will go to Memphis where he will speak Friday night. Saturday will find him in Jackson, Miss.

Competition is the Life of Trade- It is also the Death of Traders!

CHANGE is the immutable law. Eternal adaptability is the price of survival. Competition and Change march together as one.

Together they plan new things to supplant old things, to dominate new markets, and to wrest the patronage from old-time customers and customs. Together they see to it that a commercial house of a century's standing is destroyed with bewildering suddenness. At the same time an infant enterprise becomes overnight a national institution.

THE mortality tables of Messrs. Dun and Bradstreet are grim reminders of the rigors of business endeavor. There were 23,146 failures last year—the second greatest number in our business history. Liabilities were almost $655,000,000 the fourth largest loss recorded.

Wreck and ruin are the inexorable toll of business unpreparedness. Bradstreet attributes 40 per cent of the failures to "incompetence" and "inexperience." Ignorance is a plainer word.

The men and firms in that 40 per cent were no match for changing conditions. Competition saw to that. Competition never rests. Competition may be the life of trade but it also is the death of traders.

Yesterday is yesterday. The "good old days" pay no dividends in the present. Gone are the fancy vests, the Congress gaiters, the night shirts, the home-cured meats, the homemade bread, the high-wheeled buggies and the livery stable, the primitive plumbing of an age that found amusement in the parlor stereoscope, the photograph album and the magic lantern.

Change and competition! The commercial collisions of silk and rayon, leather and rubber, coal and oil, gas and electricity, ice and mechanical refrigeration are the stuff of which headlines are made.

Who can read the riddles of production and distribution of tomorrow?

Who can grasp the impacts of science on established markets?

Who can measure the possibilities of air transport, of radio, of television, of nitro-cellulose lacquers, of "dry ice," of interconnected power, of the reclamation of industrial waste?

While the mind is dizzy with these economic question marks, genius bewilders us with a mechanical man and the report of a fuelless motor.

Artist Heinrich depicts on the cover of the April number of Nation's Business his conception of change. Note the buildings jutting the skyline, then consider that since 1923 we have added 35 billions in dwellings, stores, offices and factories to the 70 billions we possessed five years ago.

Only the names of cities endure; landmarks and traditions must give way. Everywhere the old—buildings and machinery—destroyed to give place to the new.

Biologists tell us death is necessary to life. Economists might say as much. The economic battle, inexorable, yet beneficent, provides progress and variety, which is life.

Out of the flux and ferment emerge the victors. Men, clear-eyed, alert, resourceful, they win that all of us may live more fully. It is the law.

Contributions to this business preparedness are generous and easily available. For example, consider the April number of Nation's Business, with its material on wholesaling, public relations, unemployment, legislation, bus transportation, central lighting stations, and a score of others.

The world steps aside to let any man pass who can see a year ahead.

In the April Number

★ Badgering the Corporation

A passenger on a railroad dinner finds a bottle cap in his apple pie, and worries major and minor officials of the railroad many months. HERBERT COREY tells why it is possible for small mice to badger corporation elephants.

★ Aviation Gets Down to Business

American airplane production in 1927 was twice that of 1926. Metal workers, textile makers, glue manufacturers, airport designers, all are finding new markets as flying develops. RAYMOND WILLOUGHBY tells why aviation is important to all business.

★ Britain's Ways of Work and Ours

America has read that Britain is adopting American business methods. HERBERT N. CASSON, who has lived fourteen years in Great Britain, suggests why the American and the Britisher should know each other better.

★ That the People May Know

A banker asked an advertising man how much to pay a public relations director and was told that $100,000 a year would be about right. BRUCE BARTON tells why public relations are far too precious to be purchased cheap.

★ Teamwork of the Mighty

Why idle dynamos in a power plant? Dynamos speak for themselves in an engrossing "Day's Work" story by BERTON BRALEY.

★ An Interview Without Words

What sort of man succeeded Judge Gary? MYRON C. TAYLOR, of United States Steel, declined to be quoted, but E. C. HILL, a trained observer, gives an interesting and accurate picture of MR. TAYLOR, based on a 30-minute interview.

★ What Puts Men Out of Work?

Why, in the face of general prosperity, is there growing talk of unemployment? Are machines replacing men faster than new industries can assimilate them or is the unemployment cloud just dust kicked up by a political race? E. S. GREGG, Chief Statistician of Western Electric, answers these timely questions.

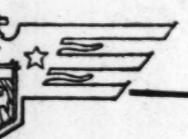

★ "Friendly Types" Help Make Advertising Dollars Pay

LESTER DOUGLAS, the typographical designer of Nation's Business, illustrates with current advertisements his discussion of why modern type tendencies are costly to the men who pay the advertising bills.

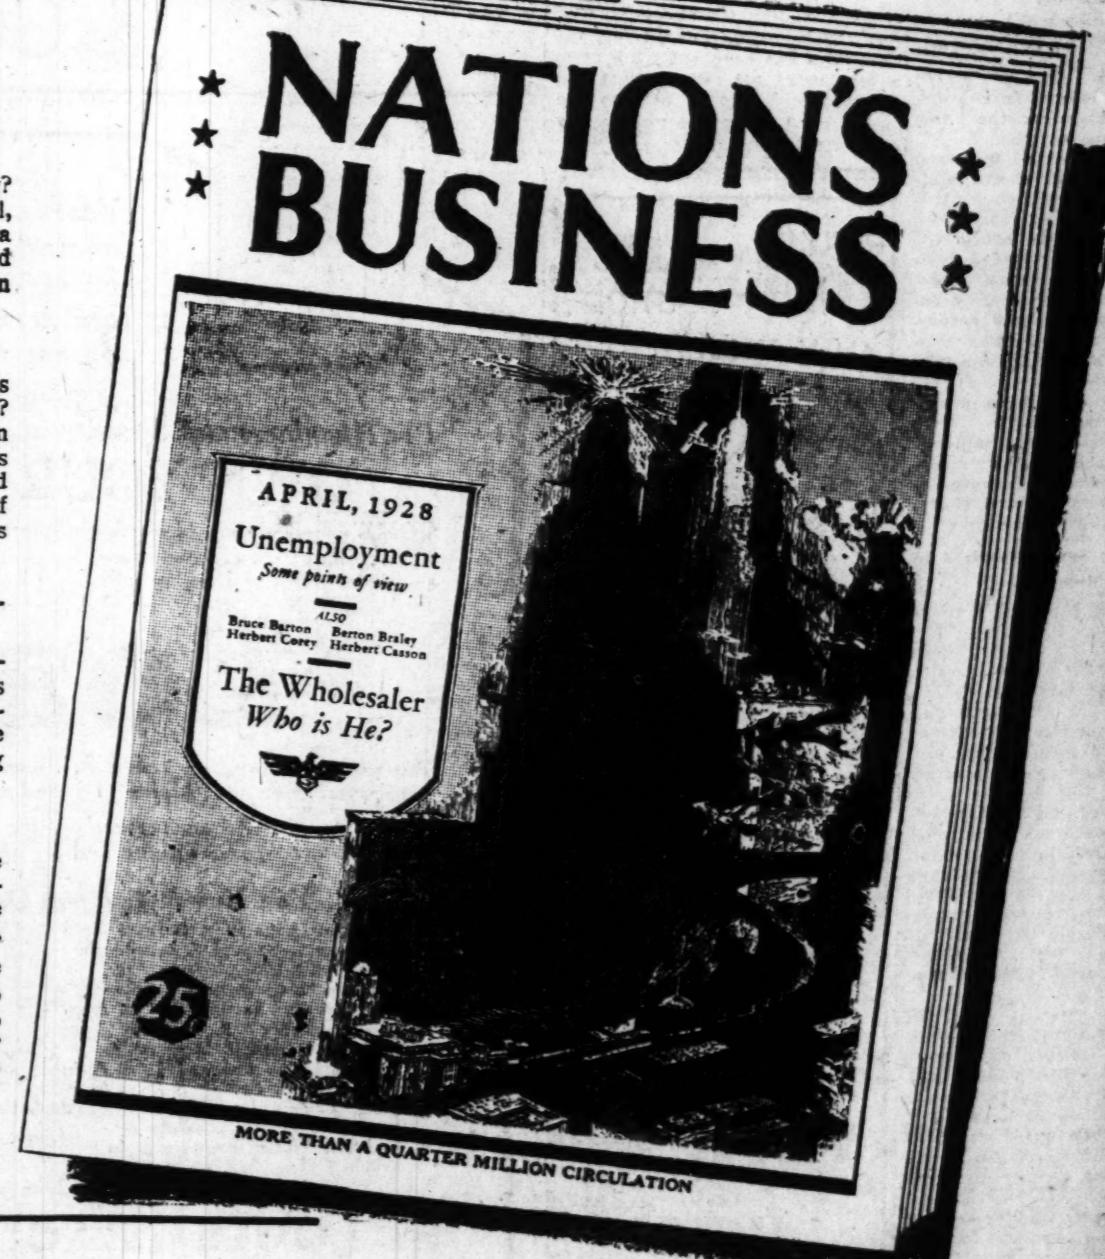

★ Measuring the Bus by Billions

Bus lines now cover more miles in the United States than the railroads. ERNEST N. SMITH, general manager of the American Automobile Association, tells why.

OTHER FEATURES in the big April issue include four pages of editorial comment, cartoons, pictures of business men in the news, bright spots in Congressional debate, picturesque verse, trade press news, foreign comment.

★ Articles in Nation's Business tell not only the what and how, but, most important of all, the WHY of business. At newsstands—25 cents a copy.

Radio News and Programs—Opera by Gounod Scheduled for Presentation Over KSD Tonight

ROMEO AND JULIET'
TABLOID VERSION
of Famous Musical
Based Upon Play
by Shakespeare.

A tabloid version of Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet" will be performed by the NBC Grand Opera through KSD and allied stations at 8:30 tonight.

Directed for "Romeo and Juliet" by Barber and Caruso, the play is the tragedy by Shakespeare, which was first produced in 1591 and in London and Paris the same year.

The play is set in the 14th century. A love story in progress and the chorus sing "Ay me, what a day." Tybalt attacks Paris to Juliet and Capulet, her parents and his friends. Despite the deadly feud between the houses of Capulet and Montague, to this fate comes Romeo and Benvolio of the Mercutio faction, masked, with

Juliet and Juliet left alone and Juliet's song "Dans me n'enivre." Romeo and their love is indeed reciprocal. He addresses the passionate "Ame adorée" which becomes a duet.

Juliet and Capulet re-enter as Tybalt reads his mask. The

Duels seek to force a duel

Capulet bids that the quarrel and that the fete proceeds.

The second act is the famous scene. Romeo appears unexpectedly on her balcony.

From her "soupir" he gathers the Juliet love through a Montague.

His presence and there is mutual exchange of pledges.

He re-enters her apartment and sings "O, nuit divine," again steals out. "Ah! Je te, je t'adore" sings Romeo.

It is a beautiful duet: "Ah, ne

pas encore" and the curtain

The third act portrays the wedding of Romeo and Juliet in the church of Friar Lawrence, who hopes pace may thus be restored to the rival houses. The Friar "Dieu qui fit l'homme a ce que j'adore" (her nurse), Romeo and Friar Lawrence.

The second part of this act, a near Capulet's house, the final brawl takes place.

Out of the rival houses appear the kills. Mercutio, but is led by Romeo, who runs him through Tybalt. Romeo is led from Verona.

A fourth act reveals Romeo

by bidding farewell to Juliet room. There is the duet

"Ah, je t'adore" (Ray, Ray,

Ray). But the parting cannot be said. Romeo sings:

"Ah, je t'adore" (Ray, Ray,

Ray). Then follows the

"I fault partie" (Ray, Ray, Ray). Finally, Romeo left when he warns Juliet of the appearance of her father with Friar Lawrence.

He has arranged a wedding

with his daughter and Count

Friar Lawrence, left to explain the details of the proposed marriage to Juliet, sings the drama:

"Buviez donc ce breuvage."

He gives her a potion

which will enable her to simulate death.

WIGGINS WRESTLES HIS WAY TO DRAW IN BOUT WITH BELGIAN FRISCH

Charles Fights Clean Battle, But He Fails To Land Many Punches

Peewee Kaiser, Snap Gone Out of His Punches, Loses 10-Round Contest to Wilson — 7000 Persons Pay Close to $12,000 to See Stockham Post Program.

By Dent McSkimming

That master craftsman at catch-as-catch-can, Chuck Wiggins, found himself in a tight corner last night, but he dug up a couple of new holds, tied his opponent into a knot and himself skipped free to go about his schedule of fighting once a week. Pierre Charles, champion of Belgium, failed to do what many of the 7000 spectators hoped for—he failed to land a knockout, and the portly Mr. Wiggins gained a draw in 10 rounds.

No one but Chuck Wiggins would consent to be tossed into the ring on two weeks' notice with an ambitious young giant such as Pierre appears to be. Wiggins knows his holds, however, and in all or 10 rounds, the Belgian was able to get over scarcely more than half a dozen damaging crosses. At the end of the bout, Wiggins hopped out of the ring to only a faint cheer, while Charles was wildly acclaimed. He fought a clean battle and he might have outpointed his scheming adversary had he exhibited more eagerness to carry the attack.

The Stockham Post's program was quite satisfactory and it might have gone down as the best of the indoor season had not Johnny Kaiser failed in his bout with Claude Wilson, the final event on the card. It is not necessary that Kaiser win his bout to make the program complete, but it was generally expected that he would make a better showing. He was pale and drawn and stepped into the ring, he had no snap to his punches, he missed his jab and hook repeatedly and he was the very picture of a tired athlete.

Says He Needs Rest. Kaiser waded into Kaiser, carried three rounds by a narrow margin while Kaiser won only one. Perhaps the situation can best be explained in Kaiser's own words, spoken immediately after the match: "Overtrained," said Peewee. "No zip to the punches. This boy was good but I should have beaten him. I hit him as hard as I could but I couldn't hurt a mosquito. I need a long rest, at least six weeks. Too much work in the last four months. Sorry for showing but I was just overtrained."

Wilson, broad of shoulders and a fair sort of boxer, seemed to sense Kaiser's condition, for he was eager at all times to open up, even at the risk of taking a one-two on the head. He took a lot of punches, but he repaid Peewee's punch for punch and then added a few to win by a narrow margin. Kaiser was far from being the boy that beat Paul Steadman. He looked like the Kaiser who staggered through nine rounds against the Denver Kid two years ago, and then knocked the Kid out in the tenth. He tried to repeat that blow in the tenth last night, but he landed right on Wilson's jaw, but the sting was gone. It was just a padded glove landing on a tough jaw.

In the other featherweight bout, Joe Rivers scored a technical knockout over George Mavis of Milwaukee, when Referee Harry Sharp stopped the bout in the sixth round. Mavis was badly used up and was scarcely able to put a glove on Rivers except when the Mexican stuck his head out and invited a punch. Sharp was roundly condemned by the fans, at least some of the fans, for stopping the bout. Mavis wasn't quite dead and some of the spectators seemed to want him at least quartered.

Wilson, broad of shoulders and a fair sort of boxer, seemed to sense Kaiser's condition, for he was eager at all times to open up, even at the risk of taking a one-two on the head. He took a lot of punches, but he repaid Peewee's punch for punch and then added a few to win by a narrow margin. Kaiser was far from being the boy that beat Paul Steadman. He looked like the Kaiser who staggered through nine rounds against the Denver Kid two years ago, and then knocked the Kid out in the tenth. He tried to repeat that blow in the tenth last night, but he landed right on Wilson's jaw, but the sting was gone. It was just a padded glove landing on a tough jaw.

Sharp is Busy Man. Wiggins saved himself from trouble by twice refusing to Charles, keeping him off balance and in a helpless maze of tangled arms. It was quite apparent that Charles were permitted to find the range he would likely have knocked Chuck's block off. Wiggins cut the big Belgian's lips and brought blood from his nose, but there was no appreciable damage done on either side.

Referee Sharp was the busiest man in the ring, trying to disengage Wiggins and affect clean break.

The crowd, numbering about 7000, paid nearly $12,000 a better house than at any previous show this season.

ST. LOUIS WAITS ON THE EAST IN OLYMPIC TRIALS

Soccer Series Nears Close—Final Game Likely to Be Played Here on Sunday, April 15.

The Middle West has made greater progress in selecting its representative team in the national Olympic soccer trials than has the East and the result is that St. Louis must now mark time until a final has been determined east of the Alleghenies.

Last Saturday at Hawthorne Field, Brooklyn, the picked team representing the Southern New York State Association defeated the Pennsylvania State Association. The score was 2 to 1. At least one more game remains to be played before the East can send a champion team against St. Louis.

In the lineup of the New York-Pennsylvania teams of last Saturday, no nationally famous names appeared. The game was bitterly contested, according to newspaper accounts, and the pace was very fast. About 1900 persons witnessed the match.

Still a Few Doubts.

HOWEVER, there are still several oversized I's lurking around. Manager McKechnie has one of these and Hafey still is giving some concern. Holm at third base has yet to prove he has graduated from the subjunctive state; while the pitching staff has so many "ifs" and "buts" connected with it that almost anything said about it is conditional.

Holm is a big IF. Sherdell's return to his peak is another.

The possibility of Alexander at the age of 41 and Jess Haines repeating their seasons of 1927 is still another blood-chilling guess.

However, there is at this time no reason to believe that Holm will slip and there is good reason to believe that the club has gained materially over last year, with Frankhouse a sure shot and Rhen pitching under better conditions than before.

Unless the physical breaks of early campaigning go against the team, the club that beats the Cardinals will break into the world's series.

A Gargantuan Task.

DR. AL SHARPE, who has taken over that perennial white elephant, the directorship of Washington University sports, has a man's task. "Gargantuan," "Brobbingnagian," and other heavyweight adjectives fit the case.

On a platform of "we pay no athletes," he is expected to show results sufficient to pack a concrete stadium which ultimately is to seat 100,000.

All things being equal, Dr. Sharpe may, within the limits of his long-time contract, get results. But all things are not equal. That to say: in the matter of all advantages, not merely educational, such as induce athletes to choose one institution over another, Washington cannot compete with other clubs which participated, but were eliminated.

The American soccer team will sail from New York on the French liner De Grasse, May 10, but the names of the players selected must be forwarded to Amsterdam before April 15.

If no accident intervenes, the early campaigning go against the team, the club that beats the Cardinals will break into the world's series.

Inducements Lacking.

S. LOUIS athletes, finding outside institutions able to paint more glowing pictures than Washington, usually hop on to other scenes.

On the other hand, Washington has nothing to lure athletes except its exceptional educational standards. The last ought to be a strong factor, but probably it is not.

The Dr. Sharp is confronted with the task of building up football interest in this city almost without football traditions and in a university unable to bait its football hooks for big fish.

Dr. Sharp, however, is coming into office at a psychological time. St. Louis is about the only large population center in the United States that has not been exploited, in a football sense. It is virgin territory and if the new regime at Washington can produce an eleven capable of holding its own in sectional games, Dr. Sharpe is in a position to go over the top.

Davis Cup Captain Paired With Coen Wins Over Indianapolis Player and Allison in Doubles.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—In playing John Hennessey yesterday, William T. Tilden was at the top of his game for the first time since his arrival in Mexico City. According to Trainer O'Brien, it was the best tennis he has shown this year.

Tilden, who has been bothered by the high altitude, stroked none too accurately in the first set, and Hennessey, playing well with himself, took it at 6-4. But there came an astonishing change in the second chapter. The champion defended his title with a series of drives that nicked the lines and dropped trap shots over the net

with clean-cut marksmanship.

He simply took everything in sight and committed few errors for Hennessey to take advantage of.

The gallery, stirred by the fine tennis and the spirit of competition in the air, was rarely responsive.

After winning the first set, 6-4, Tilden paired with Junior Coen against Hennessey and Wilmer Alcorn. The latter pair won at 6-4, 7-5, but young Coen's playing was a joy to see. Particularly in the ninth game of the first set, with Tilden serving, he completely outguesed and outstanked the more experienced men.

So much discussion has been aroused over young Coen's prowess that members of the squad have decided to play a match to settle the doubles championship of the Davis cup squad. The battle, scheduled to take place Sunday afternoon following the Davis cup play, will see Tilden and Coen in action against Hennessey and Alcorn.

Alcorn and Mancuso were next with one win and no wins. Kieckhefer was the bottom.

Today's pairings: Kenney

Copulos, Kieckhefer vs. Thurnblad, 15; Coen and Mancuso vs. Holm, 16; and Hennessey and Alcorn vs. Tilden, 17.

Andy High again played third base in place of Holm, whose arm is still bad.

Alcorn and Mancuso formed the Cardinal battery, while Howard pitched and McConnell caught for Evansville.

CROSS-COUNTRY RACING TROUPE REACHES TEXAS

Gavuzzi Leads Pack Into Vega—John Gober of Moberly, Mo., Fifth in Day's Jog.

By the Associated Press.
VEGA, Tex., April 4.—Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, and the cross-country team from Boston into the parades of Texas today, traversing the 57.3 miles from Glenrio, N. M., to Vega in 5:14:10. Olli Wanttinen, Finnish runner of New York, dashed up to the thirty-second control point of the race 20 seconds behind the Englishman.

Arne Suominen of Detroit, leader in elapsed time since the start at Los Angeles, finished third in 5:34:40, making his total preceding time 139:45:10.

Gavuzzi has covered the 1152 miles from the coast in 96:54:47. Wanttinen's elapsed time totals 225:18:17.

Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahoma runner in fourth today in 5:47:30, making his elapsed time 195:00:42.

John Gober, Moberly, Mo., ran fifth in 5:50:20. His elapsed time is 294:50:12.

ST. LOUISAN RATED AS 'DARK HORSE'

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
GLENARIO, N. M., April 4.—As the 91 remaining runners and walkers in the C. C. Pyke cross-country race left here this morning for Vega, Tex., 30 miles east, Pat Harrison, St. Louis youngster, competing for the $45,000 in prizes for the first 10 finishers, was regarded as a dark horse.

The 18-year-old Harrison is becoming stronger with each succeeding lap in the 340-mile jaunt from Los Angeles to the Yankee stadium in New York City. He ran into some bad luck the first few days out of Southern Metropolis when a driving rain that greeted the runners in Pueblo, Calif., caused a stiffness of the legs that almost forced him out of the race. Mile after mile was traversed by Harrison when even the doctors traveling with the runners felt there was little hope of his surviving.

Quist Given Credit.

Hugo Quist, physical director with the Pyke menage and former manager of Paavo Nurmi, the flying Finn, has been given full credit for getting the St. Louis school master into the shape he is now. Quist managed to eliminate the two bad shin splints that were hampering Harrison and the latter is now as frisky as a colt.

"I hope to be lap leader for the run the day we enter St. Louis," Harrison declared. "Although I am somber but in the rear at present in elapsed time standing I intend to speed up my pace gradually from now on."

The coast-to-coast runners should reach St. Louis in three weeks or a little more.

With 1150 miles covered, Harrison is nearly 200 hours behind the leaders in elapsed time.

Harrison was born in Sullivan, Mo., where his mother, father, three brothers and older now reside. His present address is 4005 Westminster place, St. Louis. He is a graduate of Sullivan High School and taught school in Crawford and Washington Counties for four years before coming West to enter the greatest marathon in athletic history.

Bears to Open Season Against Northwestern

Washington U. Baseball Team Starts Action Friday—Iowa Calls Monday.

The Washington U. baseball team will open its season on Legion Field Friday against Northwestern U. On Monday afternoon, the Iowa U. will visit the Bears for their second game. The Iowa contest was originally set for Tuesday.

A green team will represent the Bears against the visitors, with most of the hope placed in the pitching of Beckman, Eichler, Heist and Tompkins, the quartet of pitchers remaining from last year. Only two other players on the squad remain from last year's team. Wagner is left field, and Ruehman, playing a new position at second.

The starting lineup probably will be: Blunkamp, catcher; Smith, first base; Ruehman, second base; Christensen, shortstop; Eichler, third base; Wagner, left field; Rawdon, center field, and Meyer, right field. When Eichler is selected for pitching duty, Meyer will probably be placed on third and Beckman sent to right field.

Harvard Poloists Win.
NEW YORK, April 4.—Harvard poloists won the championship of the class D division of the national indoor polo tournament last night by defeating the 101st Cavalry of Brooklyn in the final, 11 goals to 4½.

Boston Is "Dark Horse" Among Clubs Expected To Figure in N. L. Race

Pirates, Cardinals, Giants, Cubs and Reds All Conceded a Chance for Flag—Most Teams to Show New Faces.

By Herman Wecke.

Indications point to a close race between five clubs for the championship in the National League the coming campaign, with a sixth as an outsider, promising to make plenty of trouble. The teams which will have to be figured seriously will be the Pirates, Cardinals, Cubs, Giants and Reds, with the Braves, because of the addition of Rogers Hornsby, as the "dark horses."

There seems to be little hope for the Robins, though this outfit will be a hard one to beat whenever Dazy Vance and Jess Petty are on the hill. Despite a new manager, Burt Shotton, one-time Sunday leader of the Cardinals, and several new players, the Phillips look "hopeless."

Pittsburg will start with a veteran manager, with the weak spot of the season, second base, filled by a capable performer in "Sparky" Adams, obtained from the Cubs. The Chicago club will be strengthened in the outfield, with the addition of Cuver's punch to that supplied by Hack Wilson and Stephenson or Webb. However, the Cub infield does not loom up as any too formidable what with uncertainties at second and third. Cincinnati's hope is for a better start. The Giants will be up there, but there is no denying that Hornsby and Bell's Team has a fair outfield, with one real hitting star in Brown, who, however, is noted for being shifted to the outfield for his hitting.

OUTFIELDERS—Terry, Cohen, Jackson, Lindstrom, Reese, Ott, Crawford.

CATCHERS—Hogan, Summers, Rafferty, Spohrer.

OUTFIELDERS—Roush, O'Doul, Harper, John, Welsh and Mann.

BOSTON BRAVES

Supplied with a fine pitching staff, one good catcher in Zack Taylor and a fair infield, including what with addition of Hornsby and Bell's Team has a fair outfield, with one real hitting star in Brown, who, however, is noted for being shifted to the outfield for his hitting.

OUTFIELDERS

—Cronin, Williams, Hornsby, Farrell, Bell, Gauvreau, Fitzberger.

OUTFIELDERS—Brown, Richbourg, Moore, Smith, Clark, McNamara.

BROOKLYN ROBINS

There will be plenty of newcomers with the teams in the National League this season. Each club will make one or more changes and in several cases it will be hard to recognize the teams as the same ones of 1927. In fact, they'll be the same in name only. Even the champions of the league will show two new faces in Adams and Comoroskey, an outfielder, who is down to replace the veteran Barnhart in left field as running mate for the Waners.

The National League clubs stack up about as follows for the coming campaign:

PITTSBURG PIRATES

A great outfield with plenty of speed and hitting, and a fine infield. Catching good, but not fine. Infielding, however, is very uncertain because several are veterans who are not getting any younger, and the club has no outstanding youngsters to replace them. Pittsburgh's punch will again be supplied by the Waner brothers and Wright and Traynor, the greatest pair of infielders on the left side of the diamond in the National League.

The Corsair roster:

PITCHERS—Kremer, Meadows, Hill, Grimes, Milus, Dawson, Mahaffey, Fussell, Branc.

CATCHERS—Smith, Gooch and Scott.

INFIELDERS—Grantham, Adams, Wright, Traynor, Harris.

OUTFIELDERS—P. Waner, L. Waner, Comoroskey, Barnhart, Brickell.

CHICAGO CUBS

As good a pitching staff as will be found in the league and fine catching. An improved infield with the addition of Haze, Cuyler, but a doubtful outfit with uncertainties at second and third. Manager McCarthy has not decided on a regular for either position, although Butler and Maguire are regarded as the leaders.

The roster:

PITCHERS—Root, Blake, Bush, Carlson, Gramp, Hansen, Jones, Malone, Nehf, Weinert, Welch.

CATCHERS—Hartnett, Gonzales, Churay, Leggett.

INFIELDERS—Grimm, Maguire, McMillan, English, Butler, Yoder, Beck, Jacobs.

OUTFIELDERS—Wilson, Cuyler, Webb, Stephenson, Heathcote, Kelly.

CINCINNATI REDS

Another good pitching staff, if Pete Donohue finally swings into life; good catching, a good infield and outfield. All this club needs is a better start than in 1927, when the club was away down until the middle of June and then outplayed all the teams in the circuit.

PITCHERS—Luque, Lucas, May, Mays, Rixey, Donohue, Kolp, Edwards, Jablonowsky, Wykoff.

CATCHERS—Hargrave, Pfeifer, Cushing, Shuford, Wingo.

INFIELDERS—Kelly, Critz, Ford, Dressen, Pipp, Pittenger.

OUTFIELDERS—Allen, Walker, Callaghan, Purdy, Zitzmann.

NEW YORK GIANTS

Pitching about on a par with 1927. Catching probably a bit improved if Hogan plays as he did with the Braves. Infield not as good with loss of Hornsby. Several additions probably will make the outfield stronger. McGraw expects to shift his meadowmen

The Public High School Baseball League will open Saturday with a doubleheader in the new stadium and for the first time in several years, the teams will have an adequate playing field. Cleveland and Beaumont meet in the first game and Central and Soldan play
the second contest. Roosevelt, the champion of 1927, draws a bye.

Bert Fenenga, Cleveland coach, faces the difficult task of building his nine from almost entirely new material. The only letterman to return is McLaughlin, third baseman. Several of last year's squad who played part of the time are also back, including Prinz, reserve outfielder in 1927, who will be used as catcher, and Van Nest and Hamburger, pitchers. Van Nest showed promise in practice games last year, but injured his arm and was unable to do regular duty that. Hamburger pitched a no-hitter game in practice last season but was unable to do the route in subsequent contests.

The Indians, who are probably best team in the league, are as follows: Thompson, second base; Prinz, catch; Nelson, first base; McLaughlin, third base; Rudolph, center field; Jan-man, left field; Ament, right field;
Kettner, short, and either Van Nest or Hamburger, pitch.

Coach Victor Kirk at Beaumont has five lettermen from last year's team, including three infielders, one outfielder, and a pitcher. Bill Slater, who pitched several games last season, is likely to do practically all of the mound work this year. The infield jacks only a first baseman, Jon Carr at third, Bob Fox at short and Earl Roller at second base. Arthur Holman returns to his old position in right field.

The Braves layout:

PITCHERS—Greenfield, Edwards, Genevich, Cooney,
Brandt, Hearn, Robertson, Smith,
Wertz and Delaney.

CATCHERS—Taylor, Urban,
Cronin, Williams.

INFIELDERS—Bur-
rus, Hornsby, Farrell, Bell, Gau-vreau, Fitzberger.

OUTFIELDERS—Brown,
Richbourg, Moore, Smith, Clark,
McNamara.

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES

A new manager but little else.
Burt Shotton has three real players on his club in Pitcher Ulrich, who probably will be out until June because of illness; a great catcher in Wilson and a fine second baseman in Thompson. The rest of the team is nothing to write home about. But Shotton has hopes. Here they are:

PITCHERS—Ulrich, Ring, Mc-Graw, Ferguson, Willoughby,
Mitchell, Prunk, Wiss, Benge,
Green, Miller, Sweetland.

CATCHERS—Wilson, Schulz, O'Donnell.

INFIELDERS—Kelli, Thompson, Sand,
Whitney, Fritch.

OUTFIELDERS—Leach, Detrick, Wrightstone, Williams,
Spalding, Nixon.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Overcoming the liquidation inspired by the unexpectedly large increase in Stock Exchange member loans and a large grist of unfavorable trade news and week-end profit taking, the stock market today displayed a strong undertone as more than a score issues were marked up to record high levels. Prices sagged a little at the opening, but speculators for the advance quickly assumed control and did not relinquish their advantage for the rest of the day. Total sales crossed the 3,000,000-share mark for the nineteenth consecutive full session.

In addition to the huge increase of $27,000,000 in loans, Wall street was faced with the usual freight car traffic statement, an increase in crude oil production, renewal of gold exports to France, a bad break in the rubber market and the calling of about $20,000,000 in loans. A few of the recent favorites sold off, but there were no real points of weakness.

Buying of Rails.

Persistent, but unconfirmed reports, that the Eastern railroad executives had finally agreed upon the major points of a consolidation program helped to revive bullish enthusiasm and started a brisk buying movement, particularly in the earlier stocks. Pittsburgh & West Virginia sold 13 points to a new top at 156 and then dipped to 144½. Wabash moved up more than 4 points to a new high at 80½. Reading touched a new top at 121½ and Nickel Plate at 141½, but lost most, or all of their gains the day.

Banks called about $20,000,000 in loans to meet the heavy week-end demand for funds, but the market paid little attention to this development. Rubber shares were only slightly affected by the break of 5 cents in crude rubber following the announcement of the removal of British export restrictions next November.

Stocks of all sorts went up in a spirited fashion in the late afternoon, and closing at the top at a new high record. Eastern Co. moved up 12½ to 116, closing above the figure, and Wright Aeronautical, which fluctuated between 127 and 142, closed at 122, unchanged on the day.

Prices are IRREGULAR

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Irregular price movements, trading in the bond market, led to a quiet session, attributable to the disposition of some trading, but the market was quiet, with the week-end recess. There was little change in the market, but some further gains had been registered in contrast with the stock's weakness, and Detroit, which had been up 10 points, saw its price decline on realization that the market was not as strong as the old company.

Activity in the public utility group was continued, with a few trading groups, Interborough, and New York, being the most active. In further reflection of the city's desire to reconstruct the lines, the market was quiet, with the leaders of the power companies led the few down with a moderately large gain. Prices were to be quoted Good Friday.

The growth of the furnace oil business of Polar Wave has led to the establishment of a complete oil heating service embracing the installation of the burner, the delivery of oil, and burner service.

In establishing complete oil heating service for St. Louis and vicinity, we have selected Electrol, the Oil Burner with The Master Control. Our choice was made after research and investigation extending over many months.

Quiet . . . All-Electric . . . Entirely Automatic. Electrol employs the advanced engineering principles of Mechanical Fuel Atomization and Positive Automatic Electric Ignition. There are only three moving parts.

Electrol, with its Master Control, has made dependable automatic heat a certainty. The Master Control watches over every phase of the burner's operation, day and night, like a living sentinel always at the furnace door. Your home is always at the temperature you desire, no matter how cold or how changeable the weather.

Electrol is made in sizes for every type of building, large or small. Operates efficiently in your present heating plant. Can be installed without disturbing your heating comfort.

Nearly thirteen hundred Electrol Oil Burners are now satisfactorily heating homes and buildings in the St. Louis district.

In acquiring the Electrol franchise, Polar Wave has taken over the Electrol city sales and service staff, composed of men of long experience in oil heating. Your burner will be installed by factory trained experts.

The Master Furnace-Man

Listed as standard by the Underwriters' Laboratories, and bears their label. Approved by the New York City Board of Standards and Appeals—and by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Public Safety.

THE STORY, THUS FAR...

Molly Anderson, engaged to Bob Brownell, who works in the same office, has been scolded by her sharp-tempered landlady, Mrs. Potter, for trying to run Brownell's affairs. Molly is angry at the office manager, called "Sticko" the girls. He had been sacked as house-sitter, so Molly suggests to him that she'll call on his wife and "explain" that there "wasn't anything wrong" when Sticko kept her in the office Saturday afternoon, to work—a task that Molly bitterly resented. Sticko is frightened; offers to speak highly of Molly to Mr. Frazier, president of the company. Frazier overwheats part of the colloquy and calls Molly and Sticko into his office.

CHAPTER XV.

"WHAT'S it all about?" asked the head of the firm, when the three were seated in his office, and the door was closed. Sticko glanced at Molly. "We were in town," he said. "Just—I wanted to tell this young lady that her work was progressing—that she is quite satisfactory." He ran his handkerchief around the inner band of his collar...

"Yes?" Mr. Frazier turned to Molly. "Suppose I let me in on the secret. I'm curious."

Molly spoke promptly. "He kept me here Saturday afternoon to work, and we got through after dark. Before he left he told me I was acting as if I was a favorite here, and that he wouldn't mind for it." The president shot a keen glance at his office manager. Sticko was looking fixedly into the corner. "He said I didn't use the pencil racks and things that the company sells, and I'd have to do it hereafter. He said if I didn't want to do it, I ought to resign."

She stopped, as if the recital were complete.

"Yes?" Her employer said again. "Go on."

Sticko's hunted eyes turned to her appealingly.

"Today," said Molly, "I asked him if his wife had come back."

"Oh!" Mr. Frazier spoke up. "When sudden light is turned upon a mystery. 'Please go on.' The office manager intervened.

"She said she'd tell my wife that we'd been here together alone," he accused.

"You don't say it the right way," Molly objected. "What I said was I wanted to explain to your wife there wasn't anything wrong in our being here together." She searched Mr. Frazier's face for a hint of what he was thinking.

The president tilted back in his chair, and frowned. "Molly, go to your own desk for a few minutes. Then I'll you to come back."

She left them. Sticko with his head bowed dejectedly. Mr. Frazier with a stern fixness in the line of his jaw.

When she re-entered the main office she was received with shouts of glee. Ignoring Sticko's rules the girls, the thin cashier, the young man typist, the two bookkeepers and one or two salesmen who were in the office clustered around her, laughing and shouting.

"You did it!" cried Mary Holmquist. "You've booked that old prune!"

Molly bore her honors modestly. "But I think Mr. Frazier's mad," said she. "He made us tell him all about it. Sticko was just crawling back there in his corner. He offered to do anything to help me if I wouldn't go see his wife."

"Look out for the boss," advised the cashier. "He won't stand for much monkey business."

"I'm not afraid of him," she declared. "And Sticko kept me here Saturday until after six o'clock, and he hauled me out when I was through."

"About using labor-savers?" asked Mary. "He's nuts on company products."

"Yes—and he said I thought I was a pet in the office."

"You are," said the vinegar-faced cashier. "So you are—but many a pet's been paddled by the old man." He turned away. "Better get back to your places," he advised, as he shuffled toward his cage.

Molly was at her desk and the others, still chattering, were resuming their normal labors when Sticko came from the inner office. He walked heavily, his head down and his eyes upon the floor. Molly watched from the corner of her eyes as he passed her, and then she swung in her chair to see his further progress.

He went to his desk, closed it, took his hat from the peg from which it hung, and went quietly out the door.

Anxious inquiry was in the glances cast by the other girls at Molly.

Had Sticko quit? Had she persuaded the boss to fire him?

Molly raised her eyebrows and lifted her hands, palm upward, to indicate that she knew no more than they.

A minute later Mr. Frazier called her, with a sharp clatter of the buzzer that was fastened beside her desk.

"I'm not satisfied with your proceeding," he said at once, when she stood before him. He did not ask her to sit down. She waited in silence. "The man who just went out is my friend. He is a faithful and efficient employee. He has worked for me for 20 years." She could barely see his eyes beneath the lowered shaggy brows. "I know he is not popular in the office. I know he's a failure so far as his own life is concerned, but he does what I've given him to do, and does it loywant to," he said. "You took advantage of the tragedy in that man's life to injure him. You were trying to fire him, indirectly, by making it impossible for him to stay—or fix him so he would be worthless if he did stay. Shame on you!"

Molly was crying in earnest now. "You knew I didn't give a continental hand when I applied to you. You knew all I asked was careful work. You knew he couldn't do any more than make you uncomfortable while he was talking to you. You knew that if you'd asked me, I'd have told you to suit yourself even about working Saturday afternoons. You knew all that, didn't you?"

"Neither does a brat who thinks with his father's automobile and starts the engine and sends the car plunging down hill mean to cause a wreck—but it does so, nevertheless," he said, icily. "You've done more damage in this office today than I can correct in three months."

"But he kept me late Saturday, and it wasn't right the way he jumped onto me," she cried. "It wasn't fair!"

The man has his weaknesses. So have you. I might add," said he. "I managed to hurt his feelings by hiring you without consulting him. He's small in some ways—I know that. He likes what authority he has, and wants more. Poor chap! He'll never get it in this life. His wife has bullyragged him until he isn't fit to exercise his mind any more than I can give him. He's timid—afraid to do things at the right time. He takes it out in blustering over little matters that don't amount to a hoot."

"Now then." He got up and stood facing her. "You came to him, and publicly, in the face of the whole office, humiliated him—shamed him. You did it to get even for the scolding he gave you. Didn't you?"

"Yes," she said, thrusting out her lower lip, stubbornly. "You had no intention of going to see his wife." He stated this as a fact, not as a question.

"No," she said. "I wanted to make him cry!" she went on.

"So, to that extent, you tried to take charge of this office; to disorganize it for the sake of your injured vanity. Isn't that true?" Molly's obstinate lower lip drew in a little. "I didn't think of that way."

"Confound it, you ought to have thought! Don't you suppose I know what I'm doing when I keep him in that job? Don't you suppose he does work that is valuable—that is needed by the firm? You'd have liked to force him to quit, wouldn't you?"

She nodded slowly. "Who gave you the idea that you were qualified to run this business—to discharge old and faithful employees?"

Falling back on the age-old defense of females, Molly prepared to cry. "Go ahead and weep, if you want."
